

Pitchboard

SauceyPlayz Games

SauceyPlayz Games is the portfolio website of the game developer SauceyPlayz (which is me) where I also give my thoughts on the games I've made.

I would like to have a portfolio of all the games that I have created. I release games under the name "SauceyPlayz" so it would make sense to name my website after my developer name. It would be small descriptions and some of my thoughts about the games that I have made. It would also include some updates on what I'm currently working on.

Personas

1. A job recruiter for a game development company that needs new developers.
2. An avid gamer who wants a new game to play. They may or may not have heard of me before.
3. Someone who played one of my games and wants to know more about the developer.

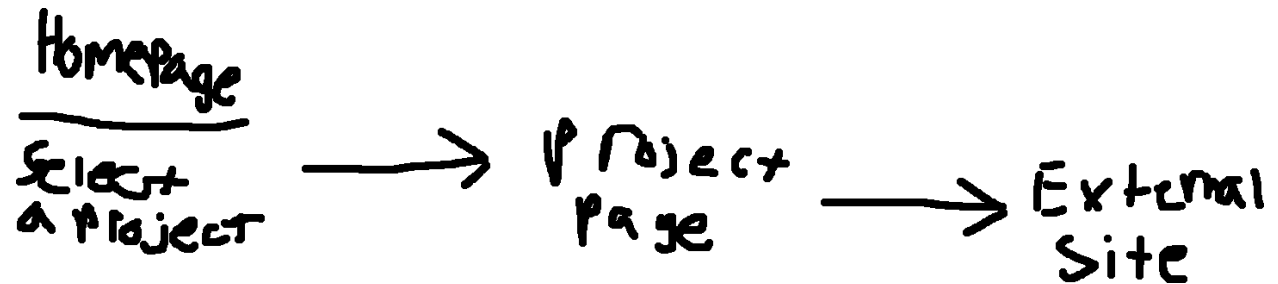

Comps

1. <https://robbowen.digital/>
2. <http://www.mollyjameson.com/>

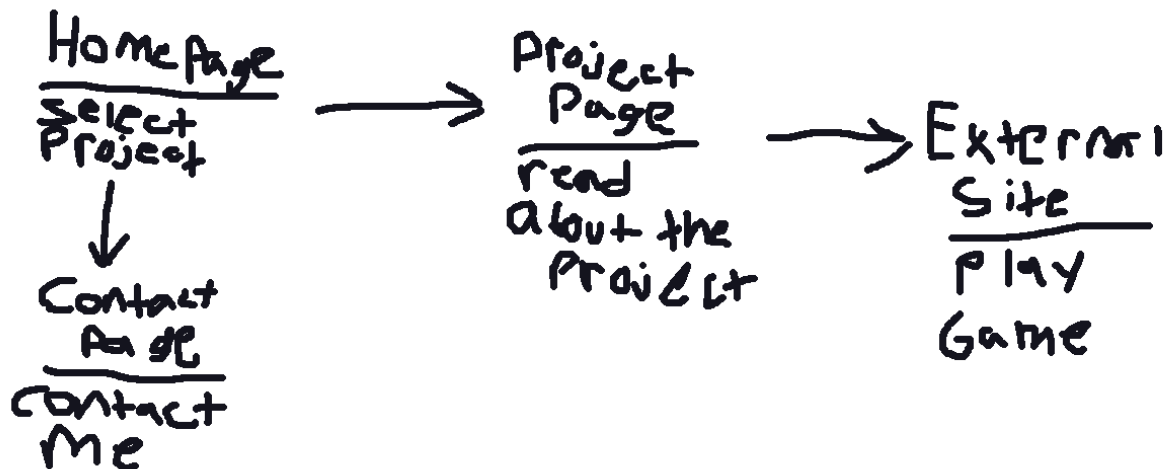

Shorthand Flow

Users start on the homepage and then navigate to the project that they want to see more about. Then, they can check out the game in an electronic store that sells my game. Or They can contact me from a contact page.

Original shorthand flow:

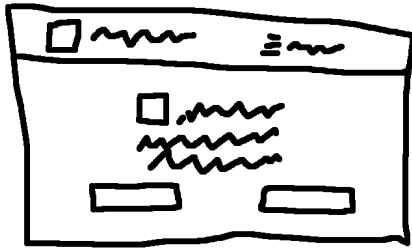

Updated shorthand flow:

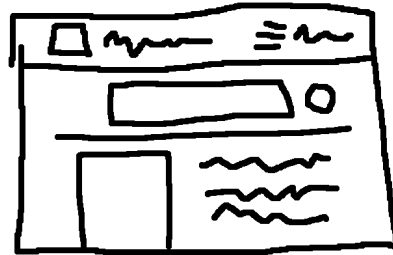

Wireframes

Old:

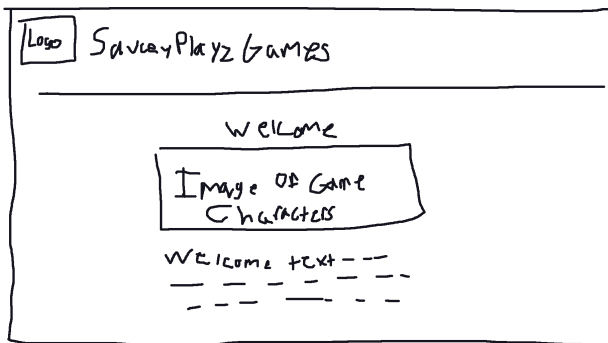

Homepage

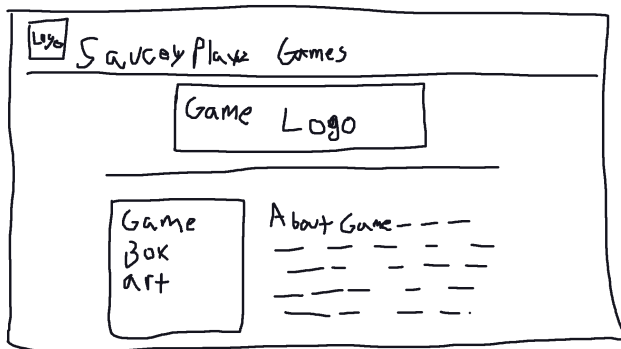

Project
Page

More Details

Homepage:

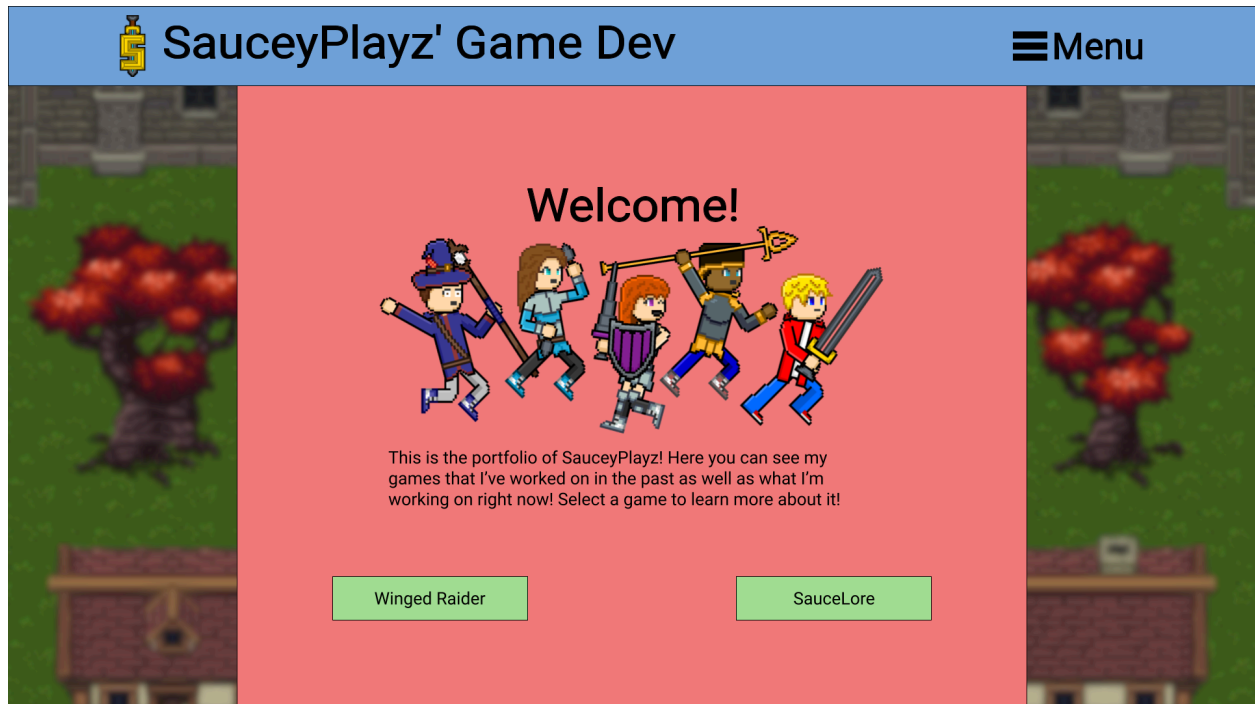

Game Project Page:

Comps

Old Comps:

Homepage

SauceLore Project Page

I have since decided to not use an image for the background since it detracts from the other games that the image does not originate from. I have also picked a new color palette that I feel better represents the brand.

New Comps:

Homepage:

SauceLore Project Page:

